About This Game

Rocket Fist is an arena game with crazy robots in chaotic rocket fist battles. Aim against your frenemies and prove your dexterity by killing each other with rocket propelled fists in this frenetic mix of dodgeball and billiards!

You can hold one Rocket Fist at a time and you only get one shot to throw your punch before having to run, hide and dodge to pick it back up! Just like in dodgeball, but with way more rockets! When you're running away you can ninja dash around the arena, and if you're feeling lucky you can try dash-bumping your friends in their faces to steal their rocket!

Easy to learn, hard to master, Rocket Fist's quick rounds will keep you coming back for more. It's the perfect game to bring out

Great game. Very fluid controls and great feel. Absolutely love that there is local multiplayer.. Bought the game and can't refund.... About 6 months ago we had a week in my physics class where we had to review for retakes on two tests as so many people did terrible. Lucky me and two other people did well on both tests so we basically had 5th period for a week free. Also our teacher was a total g, so we were allowed to do pretty much whatever as long as we were quiet and didn't distract from him teaching the goons who did bad on the tests. Anyways me and my friends decided to go look for games on steam that we could play on our crappy school computers and we found Rocket Fist. I downloaded the game and brought it in to physics the next day. It looked sus as hell, but damn it was fun. The game was quick enough to never lose interest and the mechanics were unique enough to be really entertaining. Despite having a few other coop games downloaded we spent the rest of the week only playing Rocket Fist, this game is hella fun.

Pros:

- Fun
- Runs on a low spec PC
- Good replayability
- Well polished

Cons:

- Odd difficulty curve in the campaign
- Slightly expensive for $15 due to not that much content, but I got it on a sale so it was totally worth it!. one of the most fun games in my big library. A Rocket Fist-ful of fun!

Simple, but so, so brilliant. Can't wait to get 3 friends over and couch it up!

I've been waiting to buy this game for months, following everything on its blog, with extremely high expectations of it.

It could have been good; It had potential; but It got messed up.

The collision handling is terrible. Frequently you throw a ball and it just runs through the enemy. This, by itself, is a game breaker. Besides, having the ball at your side may be cute, but this makes the game confusing, as you move to one direction, but shoot to another.

It would be interesting:

- to have different buttons for dash and throwing the ball, as sometimes you're too close to the enemy and want to back off before shooting.
- if when you get a multiple kill, something is shown, like "double kill", "triple kill", etc

I found an "undocumented feature" (also known as bug) where the level you go to isn't necessarily the level you're going to play. Example: If you game over on level 2 and press continue you can respawn on level 4 (and the HUD says you're on level 2), and when you pass it, you're going to continue to level 3, and then 4, and so on.. Oyun bayağı eğlenceli, ancak eksiklikleri var. Mesela oyun bittikten sonra diğer oyunculardan gelen yumruğa ölmemeli, ve botlarla oynarken bot olmayan oyuncular öldüğünde 1 dk. gibi bir süre içinde bitse daha iyi olur zaman kaybı olmaz. Genel olarak arkadaşınız varsa alın oynayın. Yoksa tek başınıza eğleneceğinizi pek sanmıyorum.. Great LAN party game, great mechanics!. This game is a combo of Stikbold! and Move or Die.

Addictively competitive.

Simple smooth controls.

Cute robots.

I think that's a great combo.

10/10. Haven't been able to play much, but snuck some time in at work with some colleagues, and the game is insanely fun!
Campaign feels pretty difficult, but who doesn't like a challenge?
